Welcome Bonnie

The NAEPDC Executive Committee is so pleased to announce that effective today Dr. Bonnie Moore becomes NAEPDC's Assistant Executive Director. Bonnie's primary responsibilities are to work with Lynn "inside the beltway" to expand our network among national organizations, federal agencies, your state offices many of which are in our building, and Hill staff.

This restructuring will allow Lennox to expand NAEPDC's technical assistance to you and your staff.

Bonnie recently retired as director of the Adult and Community Education program in Fairfax County, Virginia—one of the largest and programmatically diverse adult and community education programs in the nation with 80,000 enrollees a year. Her strong focus on partnerships created over 400 business partners for her program.

She has a background in adult career and educational counseling and was an adult education teacher for fifteen years.

She has a Ph.D. in Education with academic honors from George Mason University with concentration in Counseling and Development, a Masters of Public Administration from the University of Southern California, and a Bachelor of Arts "With Distinction" from Simmons College in Boston.

We are truly fortunate to have a colleague with Bonnie's experience and understanding on our national team.

Below is our updated leadership listing with contact information.
