High School Equivalency Options Webpage

The cyber gremlins toyed with some of the High School Equivalency Options (see circle below) information on our webpage (www.naepdc.org). Deb has restored it all so you can now retrieve 1) the $UPDATE on states' choices of tests and the fees for each, 2) sample RFP's and RFI's states use to solicit tests, and 3) sample language for amending state statutes.

You may need to refresh your page but all of the information is back in place at www.naepdc.org .

If you wish to add your documents to the page, please send them to Lennox at lmclendon@naepdc.org. We will regularly update these pages as new information is gathered.

Thanks to Bob Purga (NY) and the High School Equivalency Options workgroup for supporting states as they work through all the options.

The Quality Framework

Mission

The National Adult Education Professional Development Consortium will advance the leadership of state staff in adult education throughout the states and territories so that every program will be of quality and excellence as we together increase literacy and prepare adults for success as contributing members of our society through work, community and family; and, will be the leading voice in adult education for the nation.

Resource Library

NAEPDC is currently seeking additions to its State Resource Library. If your state has developed publications, state initiatives, work-based curricula, or other related products, please share them with your colleagues through the Resource Library.
