Welcome Robin Castle – Vermont State Director

We welcome Robin Castle recently appointed as the state director of adult education and literacy for the Vermont Agency of Education.

Robin has been a program manager in the fields of human services and education for over 20 years. Her experience and training includes HIV prevention education, traumatic brain injury prevention, early childhood education, and community college instruction. For over seven years Robin was a consultant who trained educators and parents locally and nationally on the topic of child sexual abuse prevention. She has extensive experience as a workshop presenter and enjoys learning as much as she enjoys helping others learn. She has pursued her love of learning by earning a BA in Psychology and an MA in Religious Studies.
