Dear Colleagues:

I have received a colleague question regarding High School Equivalency as it relates to high school completion counting in States. Please take a moment to respond to the following question by replying directly to this email.

Does your State include High School Equivalency completers in their K-12 system completers count? We are referring particularly to ABE students age 16-24.

Thank you for taking the time to participate. Let me know how I may assist you in your work. -PT
